

Commence RM Version 8.0 Ready for Distribution

Eatontown, NJ - February 22, 2021 Commence Corporation is pleased to announce a release date of March 15 for the latest version of the company's desktop software Commence RM 8.0. Commence offers both cloud based and on premise solutions targeted at small to mid-size businesses. Flexibility and ease of use have been the hallmark of Commence products for more than three decades. The new release Version 8.0 provides both platform and functional improvements for the on-premises software.

One of the core enhancements in RM 8.0 is better integration with Microsoft Office 365 and Google Mail for logging of e-mails. A new Email Dropbox feature will allow users to log emails by simply forwarding them to a configured email address, such as crm@mycompany.com. Version 8.0 can be configured to check this inbox and automatically download and log any emails that are received.

The product's built-in report generator has also been enhanced to support creating interactive forms in PDF format to publish pre-configured and ready to fill AcroForms. Creating PDF forms is as simple as using the new InputField control and setting a few properties.

Version 8.0 also provides some security updates such as; improved protection for FTP Server synchronization and automatic alerts when making changes or deletions of your Application design, including views, agents, fields, and more. For example, when removing a field from the application, Commence shows an alert and documents any dependencies such as views or agents that use this field. This makes it safer and easier to update and modernize your application without causing unintended changes. Version 8.0 is also fully compatible with the current release of the Windows 10 operating system. This protects customer's investment in Commence RM and the Microsoft operating platform.
